

Bulletin #96.1
January 21, 2026
Ready!?

The newest PFAS regulations have taken the US EPA 27 years to use its authority to regulate. Fire departments can act faster than that...

Fire departments are cautioned against putting PFAS containing firefighting foams into storm drains or water sources.

Forensic footprint work of firefighting foams for legal liabilities is on-going.

You may wish to exercise caution if your department is offered free or discounted firefighting foam. Your department will be accepting the environmental responsibility of use or disposal.

Foam Exposure Committee